RANGECRAFT ANNOUNCES NEW OUTDOOR RANGE HOOD LINE

FAIR LAWN, NEW JERSEY — RANGECRAFT MANUFACTURING has announced the development and introduction of its newest line of outdoor range hoods! RangeCraft, well known for its popular custom made kitchen range hoods, is now offering a line of outdoor range hoods to satisfy the industry and its clientele.

“Over the past several years, trends show that homeowners are using more outdoor living space. They are staying home more and want a space where they can entertain, dine and relax with family and friends,” says Helmut Goetz, CEO and President of RangeCraft Manufacturing. “To respond to the demand for practical and innovative vent hoods for outdoor dining, we are now offering a line of outdoor range hoods.”

RangeCraft Manufacturing is offering their Outdoor Ventilation Series in two stainless steel models, a 36” and a 48” vent hood but hoods are available in other metals approved for outdoor usage. Features include: UL rating for outdoor use, 3-speed blower motor control, high heat sensor, halogen lights, seamless welded construction and polished highlights. The commercial style stainless steel baffle system is removable and has a 10” square to round transition with the damper. Internal blowers are sold separately in 1,200 or 1,400 CFM’s. These outdoor ventilation hoods can be used in semi enclosed areas such as patios, lanai’s or porches.

RangeCraft Manufacturing Co. Inc. is well known to the industry for their high quality range hoods. Design excellence and superior craftsmanship separates RangeCraft from the competition. RangeCraft is committed to providing design and innovation along with the highest quality products to the industry.

Since 1972, RangeCraft has been a leading industry manufacturer of high quality, custom designed metal range hoods. RangeCraft “made to order hoods” are available in an innovative variety of shapes and sizes in copper, brass, stainless steel and decorator colors. RangeCraft also offers universal inserts for kitchen ventilation. RangeCraft can create and manufacture a custom range hood designed just for you! All RangeCraft’s products have a European flair, but are designed and built in New Jersey (USA).
